2022

AADS 2182 Black Popular Culture

Cross Listed with COMM 2182 AADS Black Atlantic Course Satisfies AADS Major Track Requirement: Intellectual Traditions and Cultural Productions (ITCP) Satisfies the Communication major Critical Issues requirement or satisfies one of three electives required for the Communication major.

In this class, we will critically examine the development of black popular culture from blackface minstrelsy in the 1800s to present day. While we will primarily focus on black popular culture in the United States, we will also consider the work of diasporic authors and artists and the iseh2 (a) 4itiodal implications of Ame4ican media. R2 (a) adings will d4iw upon theories and eptcin media studies, cultu4il studies, and 4itoric to ceseh2 (a) 4iou4idiscussion of black popular cultu4il texts such as television shows, films, music, poet4i, and fashion. Kalemba Kizito

AADS 2204 Music and Social Justice

Satisfies AADS Major T4iackRequiremes : Iseh2 (a) llectual Traditions and Cultural Productions (ITCP) This course examines influesehial Af4ican Ame4iican musicians and thei4ia4itistic endeavors towa4ids the path of social justice, education and awa4iness. Focus will be on social movemesehs, activism, indust4iy commodity and the di4ict correlation between music and society. Studes(s) 9 () -10 (w) 2 (i) 18 (l) -2 (l) -2 () -10 (ll)

g these a4iistic vesehures. Gen4is such as Gospel, Blues, Pop, Hibop and Jazz will be sur4in highlighted in its journey towa4ids cosehempora4i music development that is shaped by the economic and technological advancemesehs of the 21st cesehury Shannon Jacob Dorman

AADS2241 Black Feminisms 101: From Harriet Tubman to Beyoncé

Satisfies AADS Major Track Requiremes : Isehellectual Traditions and Cultural Productions (ITCP) AADS Black Atlantic Course

Black feminists have long explored the question of race ve4isus gende4iin their politics, theories, and writing. This class takes a closer look at the intersection of race and gende4iby using Black feminist thought as a lens to examine literature and popular culture. We will read writers and theorists from Α

3

MWF 10

T 3:00-5:20

T TH 4:30-5:45

AA C 2022

This listing is updated as of June 7, 2022 and is subject to change. Please contact Richard Paul at paulri@bc.edu with any questions.

AA C 2022

6

AADS 3310 Studies of Race, Law, and Resistance

Satisfies Core Requirement for: Cultural Diversity

Satisfies AADS Major Track Requirement: Politics and Social Inquiry (PSI)

This course will examine and analyze protest movements for racial and economic justice from 1896 to 1968 and how these struggles contributed to sweeping reforms in U.S. law and public policy during and beyond this period. This course will examine violence and other resistance, focusing on the legal and extra-legal strategies by disadvantaged ethnic minorities challenging de jure and de facto discrimination based on race, color, national origin, and/or ancestry. This course will be of special interest to students interested in social justice and those considering post-graduate legal studies. Juan Concepcion

AADS 3652 Trauma, Culture & Coping

Cross Listed with SOCY 3652

Satisfies AADS Major Track Requirement: Politics and Social Inquiry (PSI)

This seminar will introduce students to various approaches to trauma and traumatic impact. The course is designed for students who seek a scholarly understanding of trauma, as well as those who plan to provide direct services (e.g., therapists, social service workers, etc.) and/or to inform policy. We will examine the sociological, psychological, and service oriented and policy implications of these approaches. Multiple types of trauma will be conceptualized and investigated. Larger socio-cultural forces will be examined in analyzing both the exposure to and recovery from traumatic events. The seminar will be highly attuned to differences based on race, class, and gender. C. Shawn McGuffey

AADS5509 Black Theology

Cross-listed with THEO 3510

Satisfies AADS Major Track Requirement: Intellectual Traditions and Cultural Productions (ITCP) Interrogates some of the ways in which biblical teaching and religious doctrine interact with race, simultaneously to impede and to facilitate cultural, social, and existential liberation. Andrew Prevot

AADS6036 Seminar: Black Memoir Matters

Cross Listed with ENG 6036

Satisfies AADS Major Track Requirement: Intellectual Traditions and Cultural Productions (ITCP) This course explores what an engagement with life writing by black Americans teaches us about the United States and its quest for democracy. We will situate contemporary writers within a larger literary tradition, beginning with James Baldwin's The Fire Next Time, a quintessential civil rights movement text, followed by Between the World & Me by Ta-Nehisi Coates, whom Nobel laureate Toni Morrison called the Baldwin of the Black Lives Matter era. We will also consider how various forms of memoir-as open letter (Imani Perry's

W 2:00-4:20

T 2:00-4:25

W 6:00-8:25

W 9:00-12:00

AA C 2022